Comment Of The Day

ORIGINALITY LACKING

THE biggest complaint about the Duke's forthcoming visit to Hongkong — and this is probably echoed all along the route of his world-girdling tour — is that he is not staying long enough to do more than follow the set routine to which all visits of this kind must conform. In many ways this is a pity. So much that would genuinely interest the Duke both as a sightseer and as a member of the House of Commons has been omitted from his programme.

Considering this is the first visit by a member of the Royal Family for 70 years the programme for his 50-hour stay leaves little scope for variety. The planners have tried to stress one theme — youth — and provide some local flavour with a restaurant banquet and a display of Chinese dances. But we could have done better. Our Chinese entertainment is the same stereotyped stuff we trundle out on most big occasions. As for the youth theme, need that have been so heavily stressed? After all, the Duke will get that everywhere he goes. With more imagination we could have devised a more interesting programme.

WHAT it lacks is variety. Certainly the Duke will not leave with a host of fleeting impressions. But he must be doubted whether the present programme will leave him with any solid and worthwhile impression of Hongkong, the Colony, at all. What could have been done? The CMA could have postponed their exhibition of local products — it is one of our big events — to coincide with the Duke's arrival, or rigged up a special small-scale bazaar for the occasion.

Instead of a youth display, the Duke should have made a short visit to a Chinese opera — something genuine. And if we had to have a lion dance it could have been in the vicinity of a residential area where the Duke could also have seen how almost one-tenth of our population live. Also he likes sailing; couldn't we bring him back to Hongkong from his visit to the Technion College in a junk?

RECENTLY the China Mail urged a two-hour helicopter flight for the Duke. Not as an additional item on the itinerary, because rush and strain have to be avoided. But the object of a short flight over the Colony — in place of say the motor-trip around the island — was this: with the Governor at his side, he could have been given a good idea of the bustling activity that goes into making Hongkong one of the most talked about territories in the Far East.

Also it is a project that would appeal to a man who is both air-minded and interested in industrial development. And above all, it would only suit the Duke — no other member of the Royal Family. For the Queen, Princess Margaret or the Queen Mother, whom we may expect later, such a programme as has been mapped out would be ideal. The criticism that stands is that we have not tried to devise an itinerary specifically for the Duke. It is just another royal visit. And as we are unlikely to have him here again for many years, we could have been a little more adventurous and original.

23-Year-Old Conservative Elected Tories Retain Seat But Majority Slashed By 10,000

Southend-on-Sea, Jan. 29. The Conservative (Government) Party retained its Parliamentary seat in a by-election polled here with a slashed majority.

Australia Score 81 For No Wickets

Adelaide, Jan. 30. Australia had scored 81 for no wickets after lunch in the first day of the Fourth Test match here today.

Sent in to bat after Peter May had won the toss for England, Colin McDonald and Jim Burke knuckled up 50 runs before lunch and as play progressed after the resumption all lift went from the wicket. The crucial fourth Test, which England must win to retain the Ashes — having lost two and drawn one — opened with what commentators described as two surprises. May sending Australia in after winning the toss for the fourth straight time and the omission of Jim Laker from the England team.

Later it was explained that the decision to omit Laker was partly due to the fact that his spinning finger had not yet fully recovered from an injury. — Reuters.

Doctors Scoff At Khrushchev Illness Report

Toronto, Jan. 29. Toronto doctors today scoffed at New York reports that Premier Khrushchev of Russia indicated he may be suffering from hardening of the brain arteries.

Dr. John B. Armstrong, Director of Canada's National Heart Foundation, said he could see no evidence of a forthcoming stroke in the Russian leader's face.

Dr. D. P. Murnaghan, heart specialist at Toronto General Hospital, said it was not fair to predict illnesses from the evidence of newspaper pictures. Two New York doctors were quoted as saying Mr. Khrushchev looked as though he might have cerebral hardening of the arteries. — U.P.I.

In Your Saturday Mail

The result of today's polling, announced tonight, was:

	Votes
Mr. Paul Channon, Conservative	14,493
Miss Heather Harvey, Liberal	6,314
Mr. A. Pearson-Clarke, Labour	5,280
Conservative majority	8,179

The Conservative majority in the 1955 general election was 10,460 in a three-cornered contest with Labour and Liberal opponents.

Disappointment

The result cutting the Conservative majority by more than half and dropping the Labour candidate to the bottom of the poll, was a sharp disappointment to the nation's two main political parties.

It suggested that the slump in Government popularity which began about the time of the 1955 Suez Crisis has not yet ended — but, equally, that the Labour opposition has not captured the favour of disaffected Conservatives.

The Conservatives' share of the total votes cast fell from 64.2 per cent at the general election to 55.58 per cent. The Labour vote dropped only fractionally — from 20.8 per cent to 20.24 per cent — while Liberals took 24.20 per cent of the votes compared with 15 per cent in 1955.

Foggy Weather

Politicians recognised, however, that this particular by-election result may have been materially affected by foggy weather, which presumably kept many voters from the poll. Only 42.5 per cent voted compared with 74.13 per cent at the 1955 general election, when the local voters' roll was fully 3,000 fewer than now.

Mr. Channon, 23 years of age, became the youngest member of the House of Commons. During the campaign he was the target of opponents' criticism because of his alleged inexperience. There were also complaints by his rivals that the constituency, Southend West, was becoming a family monopoly, as Mr. Channon, if elected, would be the fourth successive member of the well-known Guinness brewing family to occupy the seat in Commons.

Mr. Paul Channon is the son of the previous holder of the seat, Sir Henry Channon, who came of an Anglo-American family. Sir Henry's grandfather emigrated to the United States nearly 100 years ago. His mother was descended from 16th Century English settlers. Sir Henry himself returned from the United States at an early age. — Reuters.

Luckiest Man Alive

First Officer, Francis Schremp, 57, of the 7,000-ton U.S. freighter John Lykes was swept overboard by a wave 180 miles off the British coast in the Atlantic — and then hauled back on board by another. Says Schremp — pictured here in a Liverpool hospital, where it was found he had no broken bones, only bruises: "I guess I am the luckiest man alive." — Express Photo.

London Smog May Be Another 'Killer'

London, Jan. 30. The thick blanket of fog that clamped down on two-thirds of Britain on Thursday may prove to be another "killing smog" on the pattern of the 1952 fog.

Scientists of Greenwich Observatory revealed, on Thursday night, that the average quantity of toxic particles in the air (1.3 milligrammes per cubic metre) were already comparable with those contained in the air in 1952 when dense "smog" killed almost 4,000 people in four days. About 80 per cent of the victims were aged over 45 years old.

BAD TO WORSE It was feared here that atmospheric conditions in Britain would go from bad to worse in the next few days. London hospitals have been placed in a state of emergency to deal with the expected smog victims, but it appears that there are no effective preventive measures to be taken to beat the smog.

Smog becomes harmful to the bronchial organs through the infiltration into the air of toxic particles coming from heating apparatus, car exhausts, etc. — France-Press.

COMET 4 SETS NEW RECORD

The Comet 4, which arrived on a proving flight yesterday, smashed the existing record for the Hongkong-Tokyo run by nearly an hour, this morning.

The Comet left Kai Tak at 7.40 a.m. and covered the 1,070 miles in three hours and 40 minutes, at an average speed of 337 m.p.h.

She touched down at Tokyo International Airport two minutes before 11.30 a.m. The previous record had been set by a Canadian Pacific Airlines Boeing 314, at 4 hours and 55 minutes.

Commons Agrees To Gaol Prostitutes

London, Jan. 29. The House of Commons tonight agreed that prostitutes should be sent to prison if convicted of soliciting on the streets a third time.

This is one of the main proposals of a government anti-vice bill aimed at cleaning up the streets of large cities, particularly of London. There, Mr. R. A. Butler, the Home Secretary, said some areas were "so thronged with prostitutes as to create a feeling of revulsion."

The bill cleared its first major hurdle in its journey through Parliament by being given a second reading — agreement in principle.

Free Vote

An amendment to reject the bill by a group of Labour members — the opposition did not take an official line and left its members to free vote — was defeated by 255 votes to 88 — a Government majority of 147.

This group contended that moving parading prostitutes to overcrowded prisons was not the answer to the problem.

Mr. Reginald Paget (Labour), who moved the amendment, said in New York, prostitutes had been put off the streets, but there were reports that prostitution was becoming such a standard cost item for big business concerns that some companies kept call-girls on their pay rolls to please their customers.

He contended there would certainly be more organised vice if the free market was closed.

The police were dealing with girls infinitely richer than themselves earning £5,000 to £6,000 a year.

If prison threatened their livelihood there would be an incentive to enormous corruption.

Deterrant

Mr. Butler, defending the prison sentence, said it was necessary as a final sanction and deterrant to deal with a very serious nuisance.

Before a woman was charged for the first time with soliciting she would have to be warned informally on at least two separate occasions.

Mr. Butler said that over the past two years, more than 12,000 women were charged in London's West End and not one pleaded not guilty. Those figures, he said, went a long way to show that the police did not make mistakes and charge respectable women with these offences.

Sir Reginald Manningham-Buller, the Attorney-General, said there were possible risks of corruption and organised vice. But these had to be weighed against the present evil, which was of a considerable magnitude.

The Reasons

He said some of the reasons for prostitution might be:

- ★ Laziness — it was the easiest occupation to drift into.
- ★ Heredity.
- ★ Hard money.

There were none left of the "Fanny by Gaslight" type, he said.

"The modern prostitute is a hard-headed girl who knows what her value is and will not lower her price."

He cited the case of one girl who told him she worked from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Mondays to Fridays — regular trade — union hours — and charged £5 per man and had five men per day — a total of £125 a week.

She occasionally took one man for a week-end for £100 inclusive making her annual income £2,000.

"She told me she did not pay income tax because it had been paid by those who gave her presents," he added amid laughter.

The Effect

The Attorney-General said he had asked the Chief Superintendent of the West End Central Police Station, London, for his views on the possible effect of imprisonment for prostitutes. "He told me he had spoken to a number of common prostitutes about it. It may not be true what they said, but he told me they said they would give up this occupation. It was the threat of imprisonment that made them do that," — Reuters.

Woman Minister Told To 'Clear Off' On London Street

London, Jan. 29. THE prostitute came up close to the woman Government Minister and hissed in her ear: "Get the hell off my beat."

The Minister, Miss Pat Hornsby-Smith, was waiting in a London street for a taxi after working late at the Ministry of Health. She told the prostitute: "Do you know those two white buildings in Saville Row?" "One is the Ministry of Health where I earn an honest living."

The other is Saville Row Police Station where you will end up if I don't have less of your cheek." Red-haired Miss Hornsby-Smith told a meeting this yesterday in Hildup, which she represents in Parliament. She was then Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Health. Now she is Under-Secretary at the Home Office. Miss Hornsby-Smith also told the meeting of her investigation into London vice on behalf of the Home Office. — Reuters.

AUDREY HEPBURN BADLY HURT IN HORSE FALL

Hollywood, Jan. 29. Actor-director Mel Ferrer, husband of British-born actress Audrey Hepburn, left here today, with the family doctor to go to his wife, who was badly hurt yesterday when she fell from a horse during the shooting of a film at Durango, Mexico.

The young actress has been in Mexico for several weeks making the film "The Unforgiven," with Burt Lancaster. Yesterday she was thrown from a horse she was riding in a scene when it reared up. Miss Hepburn broke four ribs and injured her leg in the fall according to the first diagnosis.

Later a public relations man for John Huston, who is directing the film, said that Miss Hepburn had "a severe back injury," but declined to elaborate, though there are reports she may have broken several vertebrae.

The producing company, Hecht-Lancaster Productions, said filming would be halted for several weeks to allow her time to recover.

A spokesman for Hecht-Lancaster Productions at Durango, Mexico, said Miss Hepburn might be able to walk again in three weeks. — Reuters.

Macmillan Anxious To Visit Moscow

London, Jan. 29.
British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan is anxious to visit Moscow but is awaiting a fresh invitation from the Soviet leader, an informed source revealed in London today.

Mr Macmillan's trip would be a return visit for that made by Soviet leader Nikita Khrushchev to Britain in 1956. Khrushchev was accompanied by the then Premier, Marshal Nikolai Bulganin on this trip. —France-Press.

Mikoyan May Go To Britain

London, Jan. 29.
Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, in a written reply to Labour Member of Parliament, Arthur Lewis, today repeated to the House of Commons that he did not rule out the possibility of a visit to Britain by Soviet Vice-Premier, Anastas Mikoyan. Lewis had asked the Prime Minister to invite Mikoyan to Britain after the end of the present Congress of the Soviet Communist Party in Moscow. —France-Press.

Philharmonic Society Gives Excellent Concert

By D. E. GRAY

The Chamber Music Concert last evening in the Lake Yew Hall was one of the best which the Hongkong Philharmonic Society has presented in recent years.

The opening number was the Rossini Quartet for Flute, clarinet, horn and bassoon. This is not great music, but is gay and fetching. None knew better than Rossini how to embody in music the joy of living. He was essentially a lover of the good things of this world, and although he never rose to overcome emotional or spiritual heights, we will always feel grateful for his sparkling tonal quality.

The players were C. K. Wong (flute), Clifford Wilks (clarinet), Fung Hang (bassoon) and J. F. Williams (horn). They achieved a most remarkable accuracy in intonation.

Perhaps the heaviest load fell on the flute, but I have nothing but praise for the good blend of tone produced by these players. These instruments, plus the oboe, are the woodwind counterpart of the string quartet. Tonal accuracy is much more difficult to achieve in the woodwind combination, but when achieved it is very lovely to listen to, and I hope we will hear more works of this kind by this combination.

A Newcomer

Newcomer to these concerts was a young cellist Ricardo Chan, who was accompanied by Winnie Lin in the performance of the Henry Eccles Sonata in G Minor. This work is a favourite with cellists and was last played in Hongkong by Piatigorsky. Mr Chan showed he had a good measure of real musical feeling. It is a great pity that there is no one in Hongkong to give lessons to this cellist, because he has obvious talent. He must watch his intonation however, and particularly his bow control. On a number of occasions, he had no bow left to give effect to his intentions, resulting in some unfortunate tonal and rhythmic errors.

Fog Disrupts Road And Air Traffic In Britain

London, Jan. 29.

Thick fog covered most of Britain today, paralyzing London airport, delaying shopping and bringing chaos to roads and railways.

In south-east England visibility was between 10 and 50 yards, and by nightfall it was reduced to nil on some roads in the London area. Hundreds of cars were abandoned along the main roads leading from central London.

Another Cotton Mill To Close

Blackburn, Jan. 29.
Cherry Tree Mill here belonging to J. Dugdale and Sons (Spinners) Ltd. will close during the next few weeks, the management announced today. The firm said the decision was reached because of continued importation of Asian cloth at prices with which Lancashire could not compete, and the recent decision of the restrictive practices tribunal to set minimum yarn prices. Some of the 160 operatives involved may be found alternative work at other mills operated by the group. —Reuter.

ICBM NOSE CONE LANDS ON ISLAND

New York, Jan. 29.
The National Broadcasting Company reported here tonight that the Atlas Inter-Continental Ballistic Missile launched from Cape Canaveral on Tuesday night exceeded its planned range and that its nose cone landed "squarely on Ascension Island" in the south Atlantic. The missile itself travelled well over 6,000 miles, NBC reported in its television news programme. —Reuter.

AGREEMENT TO BE SIGNED SOON

London, Jan. 29.
An Anglo-Egyptian financial agreement is likely to be signed "in the next few days," the House of Commons was told today. The Government will make an announcement in Parliament after this occurs said Richard A. Butler, leader of the House. He was replying to questions from Socialist leader, Hugh Gaitskell, dealing with next week's Parliament business. —U.P.I.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Disturbing Glass

Sir—I went to the Exhibition of the Sir Robert Ho Tung collection at St John's Cathedral Hall yesterday and was annoyed to find that because all the paintings had been enclosed by glass it was impossible to study the detail on the upper row of oils because of the reflection of the lights. I imagine that part of the reason for the glass is to prevent excessive exposure to moisture, but I also know that there is a very effective spray preparation available in Hongkong, which protects the painting far better than glass. If these paintings are going to find a permanent home in the City Hall, let's hope the curator will be able to hang them without glass, or in such a position where lighting does not disturb the spectator's view. L.R.M.

Annoying

Sir—Your cartoonist Vicky amuses me intensely. ## Girls Pelt Duke With Roses

Bombay, Jan. 29. Indian schoolgirls pelted the Duke of Edinburgh with rose petals and jasmine buds today as he drove 40 miles through the streets of the city to visit two of India's great modern showpieces.

Crowds estimated at more than a million people lined the streets, many shouting: "What about the Queen?" The Duke's first visit was to the Indian Atomic Energy Establishment at Trombay, near Bombay, where he saw the Indian-built reactor which has been in operation for two and a half years.

New Reactor

He also saw a new reactor being built with Canadian help under the Colombo Plan. Later the Duke drove to the world's biggest dairy farm at Aarey where he had lunch. In the afternoon Prince Philip piloted his own biplane over the Aurangabad, 200 miles east of here, where he saw Buddhist carvings in the caves at Ajanta and Ellora. —Reuter.

Missionary Leader Dies

Richmond, Va., Jan. 29. Dr. H. H. McMillan, Southern Baptist Missionary Emeritus to the Bahamas Islands and China, died in hospital today. He was 73.

Dr. McMillan and his wife served in China from 1913 to 1931 as representatives of the Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention. They went to the Bahamas following the Communist occupation of China in 1931. Dr. McMillan spent two years in a concentration camp following the occupation of China by the Japanese in 1941 but was freed in 1943. —U.P.I.

DISC JOCKEY STAYS AWAKE 9 DAYS: "IT WAS HORRIBLE"

Jacksonville, Florida, Jan. 29. Disc jockey Dave Hunter claimed a world's record in the new stay-awake craze tonight, ending 225 continuous hours without sleep. Hunter's sleepless hours total nine days, nine hours.

Heavy-eyed and exhausted, Hunter ended his "wake-n-thon" at 6.09 p.m. (5.09 a.m. Friday HK Time) and went home to his wife, 20-month-old son, a "dish of cookies and a glass of milk" — and sleep.

Leaving his makeshift studio in a car sales building, Hunter was ushered to a waiting ambulance and whisked to his home at nearby Jacksonville Beach.

He had been spinning records, conducting interviews and doing sundry duties since 9 a.m. January 20, apparently setting a record for sleeplessness.

Broadcaster Peter Tripp of New York, who began a similar marathon the same day, quit after 200 hours without sleep on Wednesday.

"I'm glad to get this thing over with," Hunter said in a voice husky with fatigue. "It has really been a horrible experience."

"It was just a nine-day period of wanting desperately to get some sleep."

Voices

The Linky, 143-pound employee of Radio Station WZLQ at Jacksonville Beach said he felt just about as he had the past few days sleep.

"No, I haven't suffered any hallucinations, but I've had about 400 to 500 voices with the same question, 'do you feel?' and the voices are really there," Hunter said.

In New York, Tripp said today at a news conference that he "could see little things moving that didn't exist" before his marathon ended last night.

He slept for more than 13 hours after the ordeal, but was still drowsy today.

"Yesterday," he said, "the doctors all had cobwebs on their faces as if they had put them on with theatrical makeup. I also saw mice and tiny kittens at times."

Tripp will remain for several days under the observation of scientists who participated in the test. —U.P.I.

U.S. Seeks Solution Of P.I. Troubles

Washington, Jan. 29. The State Department said today that Mr. Charles Bohlen, United States Ambassador to The Philippines, had returned to Washington in an attempt to find constructive solutions to current differences between the two countries.

The statement was issued when the Department's spokesman was asked at a Press conference to comment on remarks made by Mr. Luciano Millan, vice-chairman of the Philippine House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Mr. Millan was reported to have said that Mr. Bohlen was circulating stories in Washington that The Philippines had been making demands on the United States so as to divert attention from domestic difficulties.

Differences

"This is a completely erroneous expression of Mr. Bohlen's views," the Department's spokesman said. "On the contrary, he has come all the way back to Washington in order to consult officials of the U.S. Government with a view to finding constructive solutions to the current U.S.-Philippine differences."

(Mr. John Foster Dulles, the Secretary of State, told a Press conference on Tuesday that there were "surface frictions" in relations but that these did not affect the basically close and friendly ties between the two countries.) —Reuter.

Bottled Notes

New York, Jan. 29. Mrs. Anna Hermann, 65, of Chicago called on the liner America today for Germany and marriage to a retired railroad.

She carried with her two bottles, containing notes, which she will drop overboard during the trip.

Last summer she made a similar trip on the America, and dropped a bottle overboard on July 18. On August 18 the bottle was found in the Danish straits of Fionia by Brigitte, a four-and-a-half-year girl term for having his aged Popp and his young companion to commit the crime.

His accomplice in crime, Inge "The Brown-Haired" March-Lowitz, 10, was sentenced to a seven-year reform school term for helping him in the murders.

Third party in the hitch-hike crime, Ewald Melzer, was given a four-and-a-half-year term for having his aged Popp and his young companion to commit the crime.

Inge had been used as a decoy to lure the salesmen.

She posed as a hitch-hiker, hopped into their car, and, after while later was joined by another "hitch-hiker," "Pistol-Eddy" dressed up as a girl.

The two proceeded to kill them rob the unsuspecting victims. —France-Press.

Anastasia Burned, Says Cossack

A former Russian Cossack Colonel, Vladimir Ivanovitch Karpoff, said today that the Czar's daughter, Anastasia, was killed with other members of the family on July 17, 1918, at Ekaterinburg.

Karpoff, 60, said that he had been on duty at the chateau near Ekaterinburg at the time the Czar and his family were shot.

There is no doubt as to the assassination of the Princess Anastasia, he said.

After the massacre all the bodies were thrown into a coal pit, covered with petrol and burned.

"I helped to clear the place after the fire and we found a ring, brooches and necklaces, all of which had belonged to Princess Anastasia.

Karpoff was interviewed in the Jutland village of Ballo, where he is shortly to be married. In Germany, a woman named Anna Anderson, claims she is Anastasia and that she was saved from the assassination of the rest of her family.

Other women have also claimed to be Anastasia. —France-Press.

QUARTER OF ALL RUSSIANS IN EDUCATION PLAN

Moscow, Jan. 29. More than one out of every four people in the Soviet Union are actively enrolled in some aspect of the government's education programme, the 21st Communist Party Congress was told today.

Mrs. Ekaterina Furteva, the only woman ever to be elected to the ranks of the Party Presidium, said more than 84 million people are participating in the programme.

She made the statement in a discussion of the party's ideological and educational work with the masses.

More than one billion books were published in the Soviet Union during 1938, the plump, 40-year-old Mrs. Furteva told the attentive delegates.

That figure compares with only 89 million books published in 1913, before the revolution, she said.

Films

She added: "The number of books published per person in the U.S.S.R. is three times as great as in the most advanced capitalist countries."

She said 400,000 libraries, with a total inventory of one and a half billion books are available to the Russian people.

She also paid tribute to the Soviet film industry, which she said has produced more than 350 films in less than three years following the 20th Party Congress.

"Bourgeois ideologists in other countries have nothing to counter the bright and noble ideals of Communism, nothing to attract the large masses," she said.

"All that is left for them to do is to slander Communism and to make it out as a kind of threat to civilization and culture." —U.P.I.

White House Conference

COLONIALISM IS DEAD: SEATO CHIEF

Washington, Jan. 29. Pote Sarasin, Secretary-General of the South-East Asia Treaty Organisation (Seato) declared that the age of colonialism is past and Asian nations should stop worrying about its return.

Mr. Sarasin spoke to the National Press Club as he neared the end of conferences here on plans for co-operation among the three anti-Communist alliances—Seato, Nato and the Baghdad Pact.

"Personally," he said, "I consider that the age of colonialism is definitely closed and that there are no reasons, therefore, for Asian countries to waste their time and energy brooding over it."

"The problem they are facing at this moment is not to protect themselves against an improbable offensive return of Western colonialism."

It is to build up their economic structure, to improve the welfare of their peoples, and to preserve and develop their ways of life. . . .

Two Things

"They need two things: one is peace and security; the other is mutual sympathy, understanding and co-operation," the Asian diplomat said.

Apart from Seato's defensive role, Mr. Sarasin said, its most far-reaching accomplishment is the "remarkable progress" it has made in producing a real community among the "ill-assorted congregation" of South-East Asian nations.

Its membership, he pointed out, includes Muslims, Christians and Buddhists, former colonies and colonial powers and traditionally independent states.

Through this co-operation is to turn their energies and thoughts to the future instead of the past, he said.

Mr. Sarasin appealed to Americans to accept the necessity of interdependence in today's shrinking world in dealing with the threat of Communist advances and the pressing economic needs of billions of people.

This interdependence, he said, "cannot be a one-way matter. True enough Asia depends upon the United States, but the United States also depends upon our freedom, our strength and our friendship." —U.P.I.

Clock Watchers

Brantford, Ont., Jan. 29. Starlings are slowing the clock on the post office here by riding the hands down from five to 25 minutes past the hour and then hopping on again for the ride up from 25 to five minutes to the hour. Their ride last from 20 minutes to the minute hand to four hours on the hour hand. —U.P.I.

Parley in Tin Pan Alley... now I dig the 'gig'!

by PATRICIA LEWIS

NOW what do you suppose the men in this photograph are doing? Voting for strike action? Awaiting the race results? Or just hanging around for the pubs to open? If you will pardon the phrase, most of them are trying to "fix a gig"—which, if you play something other than the horses, means hoping to get a job.

For this is the Musician's Market, the place where the boys in the band gather after the day's over.

Every Monday, as dusk presses down on the shabby roofs of Soho, you can find them... 300... 400... maybe 500... packed like sardines in the rush hour, the length, breadth and depth of Archer Street, behind the Windmill Theatre.

As the hours pass and the talk flows, the groups mix and swell and surge from side to side of the street until the whole thing looks like a ludicrous outdoor cocktail party. (Except that most cocktail parties are not liable to be "moved on" by police, or moved through by coal-trucks, flowerbarrows, limousines, and boxing tents yelling "Black tickets for the white fight.") Every body knows everybody. The entire purpose of this Monday meeting is to hire or be hired, pay or be paid, and to talk, talk, talk.

The talk

"Why do I come here?" Alf Kahn looked at me suspiciously. "Because I've been coming here every Monday for 28 years. Me? I play saxophone, clarinet, flute, and piccolo... mostly free lance." He gave a satisfied sigh.

"Actually today I'm trying to make up a game of golf..." He moved off with a "Hey, aged and bespectacled, some Snowball!" to shake the hand of a man with the sheek of wild, babies, some quite young.

white hair that should only happen some day to "Van Cliburn."

A while later he passed me again. "That's me fixed for the week," he muttered with a yawn. "Just got a booking at Churchill's."

All around me diaries were being thumbed, pencils being flicked, and dates pencilled in.

All around me brief-cases and wallets and pockets were disgorging money which appeared, changed hands, and disappeared as on the last day of the sales.

All around me the voices rose. "Say, mmm, where've you been? A tinner to play that much overtime? I spend that getting high enough to do the gig!"

"Hey, Lou! I'm through with that Lycium bit, so when do we start on the quartet?" "Are you in on the darts session, Scotty?" "All! Do I owe you money?"

"How 'bout you find playing with that double rhythm section, Bill?" "I gotta garage now, you know?" "Listen, Bill, you oughta try memorising eight arrangements..."

The faces

The faces? Mostly middle-aged, quite old, and quite pink as Snowball!" to shake the hand of a man with the sheek of wild, babies, some quite young.

MUSIC-MAKERS—JUST WAITING AROUND FOR A GIG

Parnell's band," nudged the drummer. "Big session boy—never stops working."

The pride

"Mr Winters," I said, "what's your reason for coming here every week regardless of whether you have business to do or not?"

Mr Winters gave me a cagey glance. "To see my friends," he said. "You must understand—the street is exclusively for dance-band musicians. The orchestral boys meet in that building down Archer Street to the left—the Orchestral Association. It's called. And the thing I'd like to know is why we can't have a building to meet in too—like gentlemen—instead of standing around in doorways like a lot of hawkers!"

"The union?" I suggested. "Come a chorus: 'They always say they haven't the funds.'"

A clannish lot, musicians. A wary lot, where outsiders are concerned—which, maybe, is why they have their own idiom. A proud lot too. That is why I would like to see them get a new Monday-go-to-meeting place—because, as one of the boys might say, the current scene is pretty doomy.

"BREAD, money, preferably earned. As in 'When do I get the bread?'"

BRING DOWN: to be made depressed. "He brought me right down."

BUSK: to play without music. "We'll busk it."

DIG: to like or understand. "I dig you—but I don't dig that piano."

DOTS: notes of music on band-parts and arrangements. DOOMY: a dreary, dull place or person.

DOWN: where one is brought by doomy places and people.

FUNKY: originally unpleasant, now means earthy, reepled in a "bluesy" atmosphere.

GAS: noun or verb rating something highly. "He's a gas," or "I was gassed."

GIG: originally a one-night stand or temporary job, now means any musical engagement.

HOORAY HERBERTS AND HENRYS: the Guard-type debs' delights who think it's terribly hip to clutter up the jazz clubs but don't really dig a single note.

HOW BAD! means, conversely, "How great!"

LIKE: a noun used when words fail. "It was like... well... like, like, man!"

LOOT: bread, loot, and money are synonymous.

MOULDY FIG: a traditional jazz purist.

MOGLIES: the Morons—not necessarily—Hoorsay—Herberts and Henrys—who clutter up the jazz clubs but don't dig.

SQUARE: there are many in the more exclusive residential districts of towns and cities everywhere.

WAITING: when a musician is playing particularly well. "I had a wonderful wait last night."

I'M SICK OF COMEDY

—a surprising admission from Kay Kendall

THAT chic, fashionable beauty Kay Kendall is planning a change.

She has built a career on the sly art of purveying sophisticated humour for the masses.

But she will make her farewell appearance as a comedienne in "Once More With Feeling," in which she will play conductor Yul Brynner's harp-playing wife.

This is indeed a curious decision for a young woman who has devoted most of her professional life to mastering the subtle technique of making a drunken collapse look graceful and a bounced eyebrow seem tastefully sexy.

So why, at 31, is Miss Kendall scheming to shelve that special talent which has taken her from a £15-a-week temperamental, under-rated Rank starlet to a £500-a-week top star in four turbulent years?

Her voice grew icicles. Said she: "I mean, really, I don't see the point in worrying oneself to a standstill, and people turn round and say, 'Darling, what gorgeous fun!'"

"It isn't fun, believe me. Remember that scene in 'The Reluctant Debutante' when I tripped down the stairs?"

"I told Vincent Minnelli, the director, a dear, sweet man, that I couldn't do it. It was much too difficult."

"I was almost in tears with frustration and anger trying to get it right. Ten times I did it. Ten times. Nothing very funny about that, is there?"

Slowly, the voice with a hint of mint went on: "I suppose I sound pompous and idiotic talking like this. But I do feel rather strongly about it."

"Oh, I know there is a lot to be said for a performance which completely fools the public. And, of course, there is a lot of personal satisfaction to be had from it all."

With a surprising show of naivete the mistress of brittle cocktail small-talk said: "I remember when I was doing a difficult scene in 'Les Girls' in Hollywood."

"Blag Crosby and Fred Astaire walked on to the set and watched me."

"Afterwards they told me how much they enjoyed my performance. Now that was a big thrill to me and very rewarding."

She paused, when she spoke she was again Kendall the fashionable sophisticate.

Said she: "Of course, if I give up comedy and am unsuccessful that is hard choice for me. But if I didn't take the risk I wouldn't be worth much, I mean as a human being."

She added truthfully: "At least I've always got comedy to fall back on—if I'm a dismal failure at anything else."

But she won't fall. And I'm sad.

PETER EVANS

—(London Express Service).

HARD WORK

The other night, she told me frankly: "I am sick, sick, sick and tired of those frothy comedies. It is tremendously hard work and no one outside the acting profession appreciates it. The public thinks you're having a joyous time."

"It really is desperately difficult being light and gay at nine o'clock on a Monday morning in a cold film studio. And when you've acted your heart out, people come up and say, 'It's simply you, darling.'"

SAMMY DAVIS JUN.

It was Jack Benny. And the suggested blend was about as natural as teaming Maria Callas and Ella Fitzgerald.

Mr Davis blinked twice—then gave a great, blistering smile.

"Sure, Jack, sure! That's a great idea. We oughta talk about it."

"We will," said Benny smoothly—and patting the patient-brilliant Davis head strolled away.

Sammy Davis was subdued for the rest of the evening.

FOR JAZZ —BRITAIN

I'd like you to meet one of the mouldiest figs this side of decomposition: George Lewis, fragile seven-stone leader of the only original New Orleans jazz band still surviving.

But the words of "traditional" jazz and present-day jazz are further apart than would seem possible in a mere two generations.

I sat astonished with 58-year-old Mr Lewis as he told me in a Creole-French whisper that England is the only place where his kind of music will survive.

"I've been playing the same cuts for a Saturday night club, but you can't get the young Negro to play traditional jazz any more. They've had it every day for all their lives, and they're all trying to get away from their old environment with modern jazz and rock 'n' roll."

Subdued SAMMY

Been catching up on my film-going recently. One production held a personal interest for me — "Anna Lucasta" — wherein Sammy Davis Jun., makes his film debut.

Sammy Davis—a ridiculously short, painfully thin, extraordinarily ugly Negro — is thought by many in America (including Sinatra) to be the greatest entertainer of the day.

I met Davis Jun. at a Hollywood party and was shaken to find him even shorter, thinner, and uglier than I had expected.

Yet in a room comprising Sinatra, Dean Martin, Jack Benny, Gary Cooper, David Niven, Tony Curtis, Ernie Kovacs, and other friends as well his personality swamped the others until everyone seemed to be swimming along in the Sammy Davis wake.

He sang, he danced, he doped, he vibrated, he clowned, he played his own records, he

TO LAUNCH NEW LINER

THE Queen Mother is to launch the new Union Castle liner, Windsor Castle, largest ship ever to be used on the mail service to South Africa. The 38,000-ton liner is being built at Cammell Laird's Birkenhead yard and will be launched on June 23. The Windsor Castle will carry 250 first-class passengers and 600 tourist class. All first-class cabins will have private bathrooms and each class has its own swimming pool. The liner, which is 783 ft. long, will have a crew of 450.

NEW SWIMMING POOL

PLANS for a giant 4,000-seater covered swimming pool in Chiswick, London, costing about £300,000, are being discussed by Brentford and Chiswick Borough Council. It is hoped to hold international swimming events, boxing matches, tennis and badminton tournaments there. The idea was suggested by the public halls and baths committee because they thought Chiswick school-children were not getting enough swimming practice in winter. The only two open-air pools in the area are closed in winter. Councillor George Coleshill, the committee's chairman, said it will be big enough to attract international sporting events. It will have a sun-terrace, sun-lounge and gardens. The pool will be about 100-feet long.

PUBLICANS GO TO BUCKINGHAM

FIVE publicans will be going to Buckingham Palace on February 4 to get their annual licences renewed by the Board of the Green Cloth, a court with a history of many hundreds of years. Four public houses in Whitehall are controlled by the Queen. They are the Silver Cross, the Clarence, the Old Ship and the Shades. The licence of the Whitehall Court, where Bernard Shaw, once lived is also controlled by her.

CLASS 1 PONIES TO VIE OVER CHAMPION DISTANCE IN THE MAIN EVENT

After an interval of two weeks, the second day's programme of the Hongkong Jockey Club Seventh Race Meeting will be held tomorrow. As usual eight events will be contested. The First Saddling bell will be rung at 1.30 p.m. sharp with the first race starting at 2.00 p.m. sharp.

The most interesting event tomorrow will be the Telegraph Bay Handicap for Class 1 ponies over the Champion distance.

Here are my estimates of the chances:

FIRST RACE

Junk Bay Handicap: 1 1/4 Miles.

The opening race of the day is confined to Class 1 ponies to be ridden by riders who have not won ten races anywhere at any time.

A personal of the entries would seem to indicate that Free Kick (Sam Chow), Advancement (Steven Liu), So Big (H. Fattyd) and Fei Chi (Ringo Lai) are the ones to fight out the race in this race. Free Kick is my choice and I think it should win, but Advancement is not to be ignored as this pony can move and the distance is more to his liking.

So Big is not bad over this distance and should not be disregarded.

The same remark applies to Fei Chi.

SECOND RACE

Causeway Bay Handicap (First Section): Six Furlongs.

The winner of this race should come from among Mascot (Alex Lam), Superone (K. Kwok), Bluegrass (H. M. Botelho), and Ability (P. Y. T. Wei).

Mascot, the Baldoyle Handicap (First Section) over this distance at the 6th Race Meeting for Class 5 ponies and will most probably win again here.

Superone, which was third in the Kempton Park Handicap (Second Section) at the 5th Race Meeting, should give Mascot a strong challenge for the premier position.

Bluegrass and Ability may have some chance here as they are in fine fettle at the moment during morning gallops.

THIRD RACE

Clear Water Bay Handicap (First Section): One Mile.

Glamour Girl (H. K. Hung) should make ample amends for his defeat at the last meeting in this race, while Viewpoint (T. H. Yau) will make Glamour Girl go all out to earn the lion's share of the prize money.

Nobel Prize (H. Fattyd) is fit and ought to have some say at the finish.

Cops (P. Plumby) will certainly not be too far behind the leaders at the finish if it is properly handled all the way.

FOURTH RACE

Telegraph Bay Handicap: 1 1/4 Miles.

This is the principal race of the day in which Class 1 ponies will battle out the finish.

Patterson Made 13-5 Favourite

New York, Jan. 29.

Floyd Patterson was installed a 13-5 favourite tonight in early man-to-man betting on his summer heavyweight title defense against Ingemar Johansson of Sweden.

It was "even money" that Patterson would knock out unbeaten Johansson, heavyweight champion of Europe, within his 15 rounds.

It was 5 1/2 to 1 against Johansson's winning on a knockout, and 2-1 that the bout does not last 15 rounds, regardless of the winner.—U.P.I.

WORLD BASKETBALL Russia May Forfeit Formosa Game And Endanger Title Hope

Santiago, Jan. 29.

Sergii Bessenov, president of the Russian Basketball Federation, today reiterated the Soviet decision not to play against Formosa on Friday night, thus making it possible for either the US or Brazil to win the third World Basketball Championships although undefeated Russia has beaten them both.

Under the point system used for team standings in the seven-team round-robin, a team gets two points for a victory, one point for a loss and no points for a failure to play.

Thus Russia has 10 points for its five victories, and US and Brazil each have seven points for their three victories and one defeat. Each has two more games to play — the US against Chile tonight and Brazil tomorrow night, and Brazil plays Chile on closing night in addition to its important game with the US Friday night.

If either the US or Brazil wins both games, it will finish with 11 points.

It each wins one and loses one, there will be a three-way tie at 10 points, and the championship will be decided on a goal average.

Russia beat Brazil 69-63 and trounced the US last night, 62-37. It also ran up an 84-55 victory over Puerto Rico, and Brazil has a 94-76 conquest of Formosa to its credit, and a 69-71 win over Puerto Rico.

The US has been far less impressive, with a 54-53 squeaker against Puerto Rico on its record. Thus, if it comes down to goal average, the Brazilians would be a more dangerous rival to Russia than would the US.—U.P.I.

England Win At Badminton

Leicester, Jan. 29.

England retained their unbeaten badminton record against Scotland with a 9-0 win here tonight. It was the 36th match between the two countries.—Reuter.

COOPER BEATS SEDGMAN

Perth, Jan. 29.

Ashley Cooper, last year's Wimbledon champion, beat his fellow-Australian Frank Sedgman 10-8, 6-2, to reach the final of a professional tournament here today.

His opponent in the final tomorrow will be Lew Hoad, who beat Ken Rosewall 6-2, 10-8, in another all-Australian semi-final.—Reuter.

Rome. As far as men are concerned, Italian fashion appears to have replaced the old world-wide. That appears to be the male reaction to revealing beachwear and ultra-feminine clothes in the Italian spring-summer fashion collections. They even seemed designed to appeal to men as well as women.

The male eye never did seem to catch on to "The Sack," "The Tapered" or the "Empire" look. They wanted, curved hips, soft fabrics, added up to a romantic silhouette in the latest Florence and Rome fashion shows.

Cover-up swimwear were banished. The bikini and the abbreviated one-piece suit dominated—if that is the word—the Italian beachwear collections.

that North had a bare six points and the flattest possible distribution and that he simply have let East play two spades. As South pointed out, two spades was only a part score.

North admitted his bid was bad. He said, "Our 60 part score intrigued me and I hoped that I could get away with two no-trump. But where did you dig up that three-diamond bid?"

Needless to say, South had no answer to that question. He did not like two no-trump, but his partner wasn't doubled there and if he were, South's three spades to the queen would be valuable help for whatever North held in that suit. No one knows what would have happened if South had passed two no-trump. We do know what happened when South ran out of two no-trump.

Evening Beauty

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

VIVID HUES like bright, strong blues and deep reds are outstanding in evening gowns. This one is in sapphire blue. While it is daytime length, it has plenty of evening-dress authority. The bodice, with its square neckline and narrow shoulder straps, is draped to a bow at one side. Skirt has asymmetric draping with an unpressed box-pleat arrangement under the bow.

EVEN though retirement is many years away, Mrs. Aileen Dekker and her husband have already laid plans for the future. But retirement doesn't mean a small vine-covered cottage tucked away in the suburbs—it means farming on a fairly large and very scientific scale.

For that reason the Dekker household is now graced with an ever-growing collection of books on agriculture, farming, magazines and just about every type of pamphlet devoted to the land.

Exuding the usual refreshing enthusiasm with which she enters into everything, Mrs. Dekker showed me the collected material and discussed her hopes.

"Some day we hope to have a farm in Scotland," she said, with the idea of raising both sheep and cattle. However, now that farming has become a science, my husband and I feel that we will have to have some sound knowledge before we begin."

Besides reading up on all available literature, tentative plans have been made for them to enroll at an Agricultural College in Aberdeen, Scotland, prior to launching out into country life.

The farming venture is bound to be one of Mrs. Dekker's many successes. If her past accomplishments are any criterion.

Born the daughter of an Indian Army Officer, Mrs. Dekker was educated in the British Isles and later in France. A fairly cosmopolitan life enabled her to learn French, German and Dutch, all of which she still speaks today.

PEOPLE I MEET

by JOANNE BLAIR

During the war she served with the A.T.S. and was attached to the Army Educational Department. This special branch, which was a new idea at the time, was set up in order to raise the general standard of education for army personnel and later included courses in vocational and cultural work as well as rehabilitation.

Mrs. Dekker, who played an active part in this organization, can tell both interesting and amusing stories of her experiences.

"You'd be surprised at the amount of illiteracy we ran into," she says. "And an illiterate," she continued, "was known to do everything and anything to avoid detection. But once found out and placed in the army school, his or her attitude would change immediately from shame to unbelievable pride."

In 1947 Mrs. Dekker came to Hongkong to join her husband, Mr. Jan Dekker, whom she had married in 1944 while he was serving with the Free Dutch Forces. Then for two years she served with the Women's section of the Hongkong Defence Force.

Always keen on anything theatrical, she at one time attended a drama school run by Robert Speltham where she studied acting and also took a course in broadcasting.

Since her arrival in the Colony, Mrs. Dekker has become a well known figure with Radio Hongkong where she announces and gives book and music reviews. In 1956 she was made Chairman of the Music Society of Hongkong and has been active in bringing many fine artists to the Colony as well as promoting local talent. At present she serves on a committee for a group.

Apart from running a home and attending to the needs of two delightful children aged 9 and 5½, Mrs. Dekker manages to squeeze in a bit of time on the golf course. A member of the Fanning Golf Club, she has been playing for the past two years and regards it as her favourite sport.

"Mainly," she says with a grin, "because the golf course reminds me of the country—and the country is something that I adore!"

Baron Munch's Fishy Tale

—Knarf And Hanid Learn That More Than Birds Fly—

By MAX TRELL

SITTING in Baron Munch's pleasant, sunlit garden, Knarf and Hanid, the Shadows with the Turned About Names, were talking about how wonderful it would be if they could fly.

Baron Munch nodded.

"I mean," Hanid went on, "I wish I could fly as well as even the smallest sparrow."

"Yes," said Knarf, "there's a sparrow in our garden who can fly over trees with no trouble at all. I've seen him go shooting through the railings of a fence without touching either side."

A Single Wish

Knarf and Hanid both said that if they were given a single wish, they would both wish to be birds.

Then Baron Munch said, as he lit his pipe, "You don't have to be a bird to be able to fly. You can be a fish."

For a second both Knarf and Hanid were so astonished they couldn't say anything.

"Then they both burst out, 'Fish can't fly!'"

"Ah, my good friends," said Baron Munch with a smile, "I can see that neither of you knows much about fish. Plenty of fish can fly. I've seen them. They're called flying fish."

Now this wasn't the first time that Knarf and Hanid had heard Baron Munch say something that they could hardly believe. But he kept repeating: "I've seen them. I tell you. I've seen them with my own eyes."

Do Tell!

Finally Knarf and Hanid begged Baron Munch to tell them about the extraordinary fish he said he had seen flying.

"Well," said Baron Munch, after taking several puffs on his pipe, "it happened quite a while ago. I was sailing in a boat in the Caribbean Sea."

Knarf interrupted, "Where's the Caribbean Sea, Baron?"

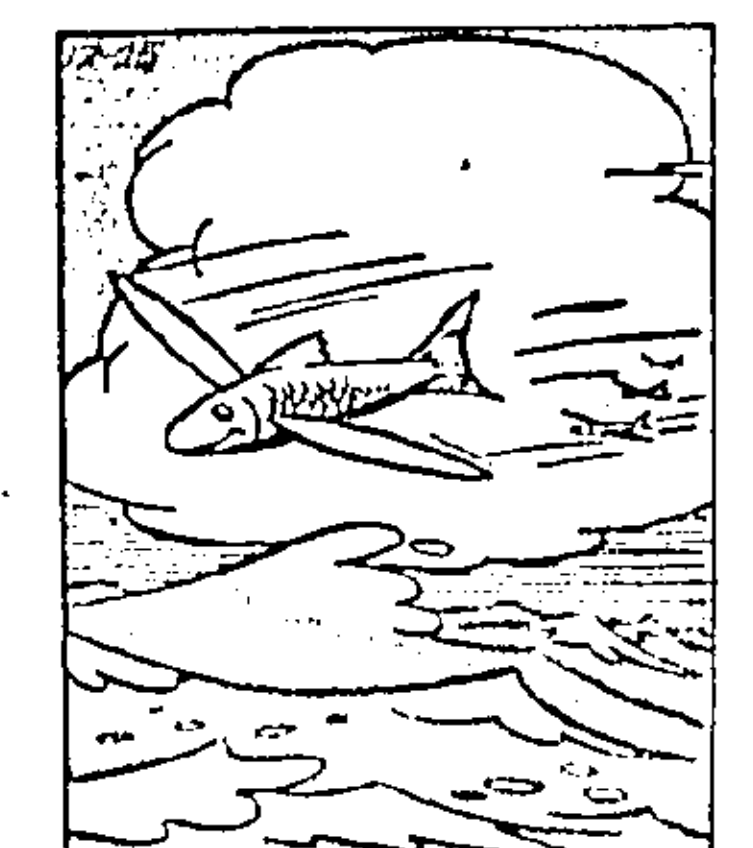

"It's between North America and South America," said Baron Munch. "It's a lovely sea. The water is warm and blue. It's full of fish of all shapes and kinds and colours."

"But what about those flying fish?" Knarf asked. "Tell us about them."

Fins Like Wings

"I'm about to come to them," said Baron Munch. "One afternoon I was leaning on the rail near the prow of the ship—that's the front part of it. I was lazily watching the blue water. All of a sudden, from the surface of the water, sprang a whole school of fish, like grasshoppers jumping out of the grass when you walk through a field in the summertime. Of course, I wasn't very surprised at that."

"You weren't, Baron Munch?" Hanid asked.

Spreading his fins like wings, the fish took flight.

"No. Everyone had seen fish leap out of the water. But what did surprise me was this: Instead of falling right back again, they went sailing along in the air just over the top of the water. I watched one of them. He had his fins spread out like wings. He didn't flap them like a bird. He just held them out as he sailed. Every now and then he started falling into the water. But then, he gave his tail a strong flip and away he went again."

"What happened to him?" Knarf asked.

"He finally dropped back into the water with a splash," said Baron Munch, "and I saw no more of him. But you see, fish can fly."

The shadows were silent for a moment or two. Then Knarf said:

"I guess fish can fly all right, but why should they want to fly? Isn't swimming enough for them?"

Baron Munch chuckled. "You just said you'd like to fly. Isn't walking enough for you? The real reason the flying fish fly is to save themselves from bigger fish who want to eat them. And this is a true story."

Rupert and the Secret Boat—19

The Professor is amused at the neat turn of events. "There's just room for the pair of you on either side of the centre shaft," he says. "You may get in while I return to my controls." So Rupert and Gregory step on board and sit down carefully. "I hope we're not too heavy for it," says Gregory nervously. "No, not you," the dwarf servant grins. In any case, my master has made a perfect boat. It can't sink, so you needn't worry." He pushes it away from the rock and soon they are gliding over the sea.

AUSTRALIA OFF TO GOOD START

58 For None At Lunch In Crucial Fourth Test Match

Adelaide, Jan. 30.

Australia, sent in to bat after Peter May had won the toss for England, went off to a good start with 58 without loss at lunch on the first day of the fourth Test match here today.

This is Australia's best opening partnership of the present series, beating the 55 put up by the same two batsmen—Colin McDonald and Jim Burke—at Brisbane.

The crucial fourth Test, which England must win to retain the Ashes—having lost two and drawn one—opened with what commentators described as two surprises: May sending Australia in after winning the toss for the fourth straight time and the omission of Jim Laker from the England team.

Later it was explained that the decision to omit Laker was partly due to the fact that his spinning finger had not yet fully recovered from an injury.

May's Gamble

May's gamble had not paid off by lunch as his bowlers had not achieved a break-through during the morning.

At the adjournment McDonald was 21 not out including two fours and Burke 23 not out.

The four England bowlers tried this morning were all splendid and came near to success several times, particularly Statham's first ball of the match, which he skinned McDonald's off-stump after beating the batsman all ends up.

At lunch Statham had yielded 10 runs in four overs, Trueman 20 in five overs, including one maiden, Tyson 11 in four overs and Bailey five in three overs.

No Help

When play began before some 24,000 spectators, the pitch was dampish but slowed down and gave no help to the bowlers as it dried under the hot sunshine.

Both England and Australia included three pacemen in their teams, with England dropping Laker from the 12 originally named and Australia playing Keith Slater, 12th man.

The Teams

The teams are: Australia: Richie Benard (Captain), Neil Harvey, Colin McDonald, Jim Burke, Gordon Forgie, Alan Davidson, Wally Grout, Norman O'Neill, Ken Mackay, Ray Lindwall, and Les Ravell.

England: Peter May (Captain), Colin Cowdrey, Geoffrey Evans, Brian Statham, Peter Richardson, Trevor Bailey, Tony Lock, Freddie Trueman, Wilfrid Lawson, Frank Tyson, and Tom Graveney.

On a pitch described as "perfect" McDonald and Burke scored 11—including three leg byes—in stately strokes in the first two overs—two off Statham and six off Trueman.

Swinging

Both pacemen were swinging, and Statham had Burke well beaten with his very first ball, which narrowly missed the off stump.

Australia's 20 went up in as many minutes as Burke edged Trueman away for two.

The first four of the match came in the 25th minute when McDonald, in one of the few authentic strokes he had made, sent Statham to the tapes past Richardson.

Maintaining the fast scoring rate Australia were 31 after 30 minutes as the batsmen continued attacking the bowling.

England's first maiden came after 45 minutes when Trueman, more accurate than earlier, held Burke scoreless in his fourth over.

But Tyson, coming on in place of Statham, gave a four with his first ball, an over-pitched delivery, which McDonald sent to the boundary.

Not Getting Pace

After the first hour's play Australia had scored 48 without loss, off 10 overs, and the wicket had turned easy.

After taking a single off Bailey's first over McDonald sent Tyson away for a single to send up Australia's 50 in 60 minutes.

Tyson was able to make a rise occasionally waist-high but, like other bowlers, was not getting any pace off the pitch.

In his fourth over Tyson beat Burke with a shortish one but an appeal for a catch behind was disallowed, and before the end of the over he rapped the batsman twice on the pads.

At lunch Australia were 58 without loss.

Mr What Allotted Top Weight In The Grand National

London, Jan. 29. Mr. What, winner of the 1958 Grand National, has been allotted 11st 0 lb for this year's race at Aintree on March 21.

This is 23 lb more than he was given last year, but only 17 lb more than he actually carried, as jockey Arthur Freeman had to put up 6 lb over-weight.

Only five other entries have been allotted 12 st or over. Top weight of 12 st has been given to Kerstin, the North-umbrian-trained mare, whose objective is more likely to be the Cheltenham Gold Cup, the race she won last year.

Third in the weights is Done Up at 11 st 3 lb, an impost he is well up to carrying judging by his impressive win at Hurst Park, Middlesex, last time out.

Scottish-trained Wyndburgh, fourth last year and runner-up in 1957, appears to have been given a reasonable chance again with 10 st 12 lb—5 lb less than 12 months ago.

The first acceptance will be on February 3 with the second and final acceptance on March 10.

THE LINCOLNSHIRE

As was generally expected, the six-year-old Falls of Shin tops the Lincolnshire Handicap weights, which were also announced today.

Falls of S in, runner-up in the Cambridgeshire last season, is set to carry 9st 7lb in the Lincolnshire, the first major handicap of the flat racing season, to be run over a mile at Lincoln on March 18.

Next on the list are Pimper King (9st 3lb) and Court Feathers (8st), both owned by Major L.B. Holliday.

Amos, who was tenth in the Cambridgeshire, is also on the list.

Acceptances are on the same dates as those for the National. — China Mail

Doghouse Club Membership To Peter May?

London, Jan. 29.

Peter May, England's cricket captain, will be made an honorary member of the "International Doghouse Club" if he loses the current Test series against Australia.

The club, which has a special tie, was formed in London last night by two businessmen, Dick Brennan and Terry Schofield.

Mr Brennan said: "It is a club for men who for one reason or another find themselves in this unfortunate circumstance."

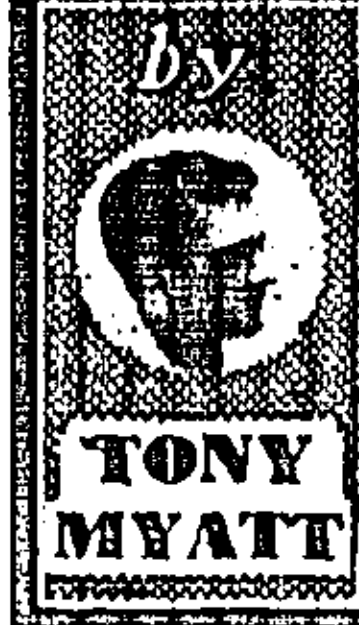

The tie costs 15s 6d, of which one shilling goes to the National Canine Defence League.—China Mail Special.

Indonesia To Have New Stadium

Djakarta, Jan. 29.

Antara News Agency said today Indonesia would get Russian technical and financial aid to build a stadium for the 1962 Asian Games, which are to be held in Djakarta.—China Mail Special.

SPORTS PERSONALITIES

STEPHEN XAVIER

His One Ambition

Is To Coach The Young Athletes

The scene was the Asian Games in Manila, 1955. The runners lined up at the start of the 100 metres dash. The starter took his position... "On your marks... get set..." and then one over-anxious youngster jumped the gun. They lined up again and once more he took off before the gun. He was disqualified.

To this young man, who had travelled hundreds of miles to participate in the event, it was the greatest disappointment of his athletic career. All those long hours of training had gone to waste and the fact that he considered his chances in the race as being "pretty good," made it even worse.

But it certainly wasn't the end... not by a long shot. However, to Stephen Ronald Xavier, the diminutive Colony "Flyer," it was a disheartening experience never to be forgotten.

Looking Back

Looking back on the event, one cannot help but sympathize with Stephen.

It was the first time he had ever been to the Asian Games... he was only 20 years old and nervous. He was also dead keen on winning the event and he might have won it, had he not been quite so anxious to get away.

But, it wasn't all sackcloth and ashes. For during the same meet, he attained what he considers his greatest athletic accomplishment.

Running in the 200 metres, against much bigger competitors (Stephen is only five feet, three inches tall), he flashed across the finishing line to take third place and a bronze medal.

Let's reel back a few years now, to when he first started churning up the cinders.

When he was a student at La Salle College, Stephen was never really keen on track and field events. He did, however, play a lot of other sports, including soccer.

It was during a soccer game, that he was noticed by the sports master who later included him in the school athletic team.

Stephen trained hard... one and a half hours daily and his times improved with every outing.

Specialty

The 100 and 200 metres events became his specialty and ever since he started running in the Colony Championships he has yet to be beaten in these two distances. His 10.8 seconds in the 100 metres and 21.7 seconds in the 200 metres, still stand as Colony records.

In inter-school athletics, he was senior champion on three occasions. Despite his height, he even won the long jump on one occasion with a leap of over 21 feet.

Besides the Manila Asian Games, he has also been to the Asian Games in Tokyo and to the Empire Games in Vancouver in 1954. At the latter meet, he was the Colony's lone athletic entry, but he didn't mind for it gave him a chance to train and make friends with many famous athletes from Australia, including Hector Hogan.

Leaving

On the 16th of next month, Stephen leaves the Colony for Australia to join his father and two sisters. When he gets there he hopes (providing he finds the time), to join an athletic association and go into hard training.

His one ambition in life, however, is to coach young athletes. He has the experience to do it.

Bon Voyage and all best, Stephen.

The highlight of the day was a big rise in certain Orange Free State gold shares with the Rand rising 13 shilling 12 pence to 145/7½ following news of rich values at the mine which at 9,772-inch penny-weight are believed to be the highest values anywhere in the world.

Gilt-edged went ahead at first on talk of a possible change in the Bank Rate but quieter conditions followed the change decision just before the close when gains at the close extended to 7/6. Foreign bonds were quietly irregular while there was a general market down of dollar stocks.

Oils reflected that the Street feared a rise generally lower with Shell Trinidad a weak market.—U.P.I.

Temperature Falls 24 Degrees In 16 Hours

In 16 hours to 7 o'clock this morning, the temperature fell 24 degrees when a cold wave passed over the Colony during the night.

Yesterday's maximum temperature of 80.4 degrees recorded at 3 p.m. yesterday afternoon, was the highest ever recorded at the Observatory since they began taking observations in 1884.

The previous highest was 79.3, in January, 1905.

But this morning the minimum temperature recorded was 56.3 degrees between 6 and 7 a.m.

The cold front forecast by the Observatory passed through the Colony at 9 p.m., and the temperature began to drop, and by morning, there was a difference of 10 degrees between yesterday's minimum temperature and today's.

This afternoon, a spokesman for the Royal Observatory said, the maximum temperature should be about 68 degrees, and the outlook for tomorrow is again cooler weather.

Street Thefts Suspects Held

Seven people, including a boy, are being held by the Police for enquiries into a number of street thefts on both sides of the harbour yesterday.

The boy was detained after a European had lost a sum of money in Pilsen Street, Kowloon.

A woman had her purse snatched from her at the Centre Street market while a fountain pen was stolen from a man walking in Hennessy Road, near its junction with Canal Road West.

Another case concerned the snatching of a $3 necklace from a baby being carried on his mother's back in Mongkok Road. A purse, containing money, was snatched from a woman in Fuk Wing Street, Shamshuipo.

Chairman Of Public Services Commission

Mr. R. C. Lee, has been appointed by His Excellency the Governor to be Chairman of the Public Services Commission with effect from January 22, 1959 in place of Mr. J. R. Jones, who has resigned the chairmanship following his appointment as a member of the forthcoming Salaries Commission.

Mr. Jones has been connected with the Public Services Commission since 1951.

Mr. Lee has been a member of the Commission since 1953 and has acted as chairman on previous occasions.

No Decision On Bell Visa Case

The Philippine Consul-General, Mr. Eduardo Rosal, said this morning that no decision had been made regarding the issue of a visa to Time magazine representative James Bell.

Mr. Bell was refused a visa into the Philippines by the Consul-General last week.

However, the Foreign Secretary, Mr. Felixberto Serrano, has ordered the Consulate in Hongkong to study the case. Mr. Rosal said that "it is not likely that a decision will be made today."

Parcels Go Across The Border For Gaoled US Bishop

Among ten Red Cross parcels which were passed over the border this morning for five Americans detained in China were two for the Roman Catholic Bishop, James Walsh. Nothing has been heard of him since last October.

The parcels left the Peninsula Hotel in the care of Mr. Jacob Hildebrand, American Red Cross field director who flew in from Manila yesterday. Mrs. F. J. Smith, Branch Officer of the British Red Cross accompanied him.

An agreement on the parcels was reached in cable negotiations between General Alfred M. Gruenther, American Red Cross President in Washington and Madame Li Teh-chun, President of the Red Cross Society in China.

The parcels contained a variety of concentrated food, cigarettes, matches, soap, powdered coffee, cube sugar, a plastic spoon and can openers.

Bishop Walsh is head of the Maryknoll Mission in Shanghai, but it is not known if he is still in the city.

Police Seek Pickpocket Victim

Police are trying to locate a young Chinese woman, about 19, who lost money when her pocket was picked at the tram stop in Hennessy Road, near the Eastern Fire Station, on Wednesday afternoon.

The woman, who has wavy hair and is about 5 feet 3 inches tall, was wearing a grey woollen jacket and a pair of Chinese-style fawn-coloured trousers at the time. She boarded a tram bound for Shaokwan without knowing that she had had her pocket picked. The offence was seen by an off-duty Police constable, who arrested the offender.

Eastern Police are inquiring.

Year's Gaol For Drug Offence

A 60-year-old widow, Chan Fung-ku, living in a wooden hut on the rooftop of 121 Connaught Road, West, who pleaded guilty to possessing 7.8 ounces of heroin in 60 packages was sentenced to one year by Mr. D. Cons at Central this morning.

Blind People Are Given Clothing

About 130 blind people were given used clothing and shoes by the Hongkong Society for the Blind at the Society's room in the War Memorial Centre, Southern Playground, Wanchai, this morning.

Mrs. Ruth Kirby, the Society's Hon. Secretary (seen above), and several members of the Blind Welfare Section of the Social Welfare Department were present to help in the distribution.

Silverware Recovered

Police have found a quantity of silverware and electro-plated nickel silverware, believed to be stolen property. Police at Central are trying to trace the owners.

Struck Off

The names of Holding and Real Estate Co., Ltd. and The Consolidated Industrial Development Co., Ltd. have been struck off the company register as from January 30, according to the Government Gazette today.

The Gazette also stated that unless cause is shown within three months from the same date, the name of Sir Cyril Young and Son Ltd will be struck off the company register.

Resumed Duty

Today's Government Gazette notified that Mr. K. T. Ridley resumed duty as Australian Government Trade Commissioner upon his return from leave and consequently Mr. K. L. Rossignol ceased to act in this capacity.

Church Trustees

Miss Seto Heang and Mr. Ho Wal have been appointed Trustees of the Church of Christ in China, Wanchai, according to today's Government Gazette.

Union Leader Coming Here

Mr. David Macdonald, President of the United Steelworkers of America will be coming to the Colony for a short holiday on February 3.

He is at present in Singapore where he held talks with Mr. Lim Yew Hock, Singapore's Chief Minister and Minister for Labour.

Mr. Macdonald, a Labour Union executive from Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, in 1950 was Secretary and Assistant to the vice-president of the United Mineworkers of America.

Following his stay in the Colony, Mr. Macdonald will go to Japan.

Gaol, Cane For Young Snatcher

A 19-year-old fook, Lee Shing, living in a cooked food stall at Ha Heung Road, who snatched a handbag containing $175.00 and a fountain pen from a woman on Wednesday was sentenced to one year and six strokes of the cane by Mr. D. Cons at Central this morning.

Education Board

The Rt. Rev. R. O. Hall, Bishop of Hongkong, has been re-appointed a member of the Board of Education upon his return from leave for one year ending December 31, 1959, as notified in today's Government Gazette.

MAN ON WOUNDING COUNT DISCHARGED

Mr Justice C. W. Rooco at the Criminal Sessions this morning discharged a prisoner, Mui Yau-kuong, 24, unemployed, who had been accused of participating in an attack on a woman.

This came when Mr G. R. Sneath, Crown Counsel, indicated that he was offering no further evidence against Mui after His Lordship had ruled that a statement Mui made to the Police was not admissible as evidence.

Mui had been charged together with a 30-year-old hawker, Lau Leung-shing, with wounding Koo Ling-ying with intent to cause grievous bodily harm.

Denial

The offence is said to have taken place in Koo's house in Kowloon City in August last year.

Another man, Chau Chai, had pleaded guilty on Wednesday to a charge of assault, occasioning actual bodily harm.

Lau, who had been identified by the complainant as one of three men who attacked her, testified on his own behalf today.

Lau denied this. He claimed he waited outside the house while Chau went inside and beat the woman with a torch. Hearing is continuing.

Mr. P. T. Moor, Assistant Superintendent of Police, to be Superintendent.

Mr. Tee Chan-yau to be Senior Inspector of Schools and Mr. Cheung Shu-long to be Inspector of Schools.

The confirmation of the following officers to the permanent and pensionable establishment has been approved, as notified in today's Government Gazette:

Mr. H. D. Miller, Cadet Officer, Class II; Mr. J. H. Knapp, Mining Engineer; Miss M. C. Hattie, Nursing Sister; Mrs. Rudy Khoo Kian-kang, Yeung, X-ray technician and Miss Lim, Radiologist.

Mr. G. E. Sneath ceased to be a Director for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of the Widows' and Orphans' Pension Ordinance as from January 11 on the return of Mr. H. A. de Beetho, as notified in today's Government Gazette.

From the Files

25 years AGO

THERE is a short private pathway off Robinson Road leading to Elliot Crescent, writes "Colonial" in "Old Hongkong." This is almost the sole commemoration today of the first Administrator of the Colony, Captain Charles Elliot. Glenealy replaced the name of Elliot's Vale, and Elliot Battery was done away with some 15 years ago on the realignment of Pokfulam Road.

We find a recollection of the old firm of Russell and Company, merged in Shewan, Tomes and Co. of today, in Kee Cheong Street, a private lane running parallel to Forbes Street (close to Belcher's Street, at West Point.) Kee Cheong is the Chinese name for the old firm, and Forbes was one of the partners.

A name destined to pass out of local commemoration is Reinecker Street, now known as Mui Fong Street. It was named perhaps after an old resident, who for a time held the post of Chief Clerk to the Treasurer and was later (about 1887) acting Treasurer, but departed from the Colony somewhat hurriedly under a cloud.

Catchick Street was formerly Chater Street. When Chater Road was named on the new Central Praya, confusion was avoided by taking Sir Paul Chater's other name for the Kennedy Town lane.

Wing Lok Savings Praya. When the Western Praya came to be built, the place became an inland thoroughfare, and the name was changed—no doubt in order also to prevent confusion with Bowington at Happy Valley. The name recalls a former Governor of the Colony.
